

Pegasus Class Newsletter End of Term 6

Dear Parents and Carers,

Yay, we have made it!

And what a term this has been! The heat of the past weeks certainly challenged both pupils and teachers alike in their endeavour to produce some great learning. However, we have been able to find out some new and interesting things.

In English, we explored newspaper articles and linked this to our visit to the Canal Museum in Devizes. Getting stuck in the mud with the narrowboat was our favourite topic, but we were also able to use the heat wave for another article.

Our topic of Wiltshire focused on the canals and the children were inspired to recreate water jugs in the style of canal art, with the theme of castles and roses.

In R.E. we broadened our knowledge about other religions by learning about Judaism and comparing it to religions we already have studied in the previous terms. The children, yet again, produced some fantastic art for this years Spirited Art Competition and we hope you all had a chance to see them in our Whole School Exhibition.

With many extra activities and events happening at school, as well as the unprecedented heat wave, not all subjects could be covered in as much detail as intended. However, we hope we were able to boost children's curiosity and encourage them to do their own research.

For our 'Agents of Change' contribution we decided to support a Hedgehog Charity which cares for abandoned hoglets or injured hedgehogs. The children were fired up about our sponsored walk, making hedgehog masks and placards. At the moment of writing this newsletter we don't yet know how much money was raised, but we are certainly very proud of the children's effort.

This term will also be one of farewells. Mrs Ford will start her teacher's training at SSQ and we wish her the very best. She has been a great support in Pegasus Class and we will miss her.

And finally, it's 'Good bye' from me. These past 15 years, Langley Fitzurse has been a huge part of my life and I have greatly enjoyed the creativity and daily surprises the job entailed. Thank you all so very much for your support. I have many happy memories and I hope that I have been able to plant a small memory in some children.

Have a lovely summer and lots of enjoyable family moments.
